For Eighty Years It Has Been Practically a Free State

at Now It Will Be Subject to the Most Despotic Power in the Civilized World. Is the Pledge of Alexander I to Be Broken?-Epidemie of Suicides at St. Petersburg-Foreign Notes.

LONDON, March 28,-From Finland mes the news that the car is pre aring to al olish the liberties of that country, where, for eighty years, the spectacle has been presented of a free state, subject to the most despotic power in the civilized world.

The Piedge of Alexander.

this landing, or parliament, that excite the jealousy and animosity of the ruling owers of Russia.

The Russian People, who, notwithstanding all obstruction and restrictions, are every day growing in intelligence, have 1 efore them the remarkable example of a subject and conquered province en oying a constitutional government, while they themselves are absolutely denied any voice in their own affairs. They have also before them the fact that the czar the spiritual head of the Russian church, is the sovereign of a country in which the established church is the Evangelical Luthran. In this respect the czar and the Queen of England hold a smilar position, but the religious situation in England and in Russia is, of course, radically different. standing all obstruction and restrictions

The Pledge to Be Rocken.

All these circumstances tend to give color to the belief, now prevalent in rinland, that the pledge of Alexander I is soon to be broken, and that the likerties of the country are to be ground under the common despotism which prevails throughout the remainder of the empre. So strong is the belief that empres to strong is the belief that empres the bel The Pledge to Be Broken. gration from the country has received a tremenous impulse, and already within the past year exceeds that from Sweden by many thousands.

Another Cause of Jealousy. Another motive for Russian jealousy is the close relation between the ruling lasses of Finland and Sweden. Swedish is the official language of Finland—the language spoken by nearly all the better class of people. Even to day the Swedes regard the asset of Finland in much the same spirit as the French do the sever-stre of Abron and Lorgins. ance of Alsace and Lorraine.

Emigr to : Encouraged. There is reason to believe that the Russ an government is encouraging the emigrat on of the Sweedish Fins, with the view to get rad of an element that is a menace to kussian designs. Former restrictions on emigration have been practically removed, and the exolus goes on, increasing every day in propor-tions.

Berlin correspondents say that Prince Bismarck is in very bad t-mper. His usual sang froid seems to have disappeared and he vents his choler upon all who incur his displeasure. The allegation in some of the government organs that he showed dish-yaity in resigning seems to have especially angered him and he has freely denounced the press in terms indicating that he has little bellef in the honesty of German journalism.

dicating that he has little belief in the honesty of German journalism.

His friends are surprized that he should stoop to notice the attacks of obscure or venal scribblers. Others are unkind enough to refer to the famous "reptile fund" as the prince termed it in one of his speeches, and to intimate that German political journalism would have been less open to suspicion if Bismarck had never tampered with some sections of it.

As En hu'a tie Demonstration.

Wednesday, while Prince Bismarck was driving past a bridge situated between the Lusgarten and Unter Den Linden, the horses attached to the carriage shiel, and their legs became entangled in the traces. When the horses had been controlled, a throng of people gathered at out the ex-chancellor.

A remarkable scene ensued, many of the ladies present flinging bouquets at the prince, while others set ed and kassel his hands. The "man of blood and iron," while attempting to falter out his thanks, broke down and wept. The accident was trifling in its nature, and the prince, re-uning his seat, drove off amid the cheers of the crowd. An En hu a tie Demonstration.

Grosvenor, accompanied by a newspaper representative, called on Mr. Kincaid at the District jail Tuesday forenoon, when the general had his first confidential interview with the prisener. Mr. Kincaid seems to have regained his a lf-possession, and appeared more like himself than he has at any time since the unfortunate shooting. He has the freedom of the official portion of the jail and receives many callers, and uses the private rooms set apart for the use of the officials of the institution to entertain and converse with them.
